

SOFiA ARCHIVE REPORT, 2021

After a considerable delay, the final batch of Sofia documents will be deposited in the Macmillan Brown Library at the University of Canterbury in November. It has taken five years to reach an agreement that these papers will be added to those already archived, and due to lack of space they will be the last that can be accepted.

This will mean that from the end of this year our entire archive, with documents dating from our inception deposited in 2000, to October 2021, will be safely housed, listed, and available for Sofia members and interested members of the public.

From November 2021 onwards the Sofia website will publish documents of importance and interest, and these will be safely backed up in the Cloud.

A detailed Inventory of the Archive will be available to all members, and I'm still happy to search the documents for anyone who has a query and is unable to visit the Library.

If any members hold material that might be suitable for archiving please contact me as soon as possible as this will be the last opportunity to add to the collection.
